Autumn 2020	PPHA	30105	Math Methods for Public Policy	Shah,Rohen	Very effective instructor. Good at connecting the theory to practical uses and breaking things down in an understandable way. <hr/> Engaging teacher with a friendly manner, no particular weaknesses <hr/> Good clear explanations, paced the course well for students, no major weaknesses <hr/> great with a small group and preally walked us through difficult problems <hr/> I think the instructor was very good at making the material interesting. <hr/> Rohan is an excellent and engaging, as well as encouraging instructor who teaches what needs to be taught, helps us get to where we need to. <hr/> Rohen and Lilly were amazing instructors! They were the main reason I was able to survive the core. I appreciated how they explained things in a simple way and helped me to grasp the big picture of concepts. <hr/> Rohen has a way of teaching difficult material in a clear and concise way. <hr/> Rohen is amazing and should teach all math courses. <hr/> The instructor is very engaging, thoughtful and compassionate towards students. He knew how to work with students regardless of what their background is. <hr/> Rohen was a great instructor who made the information easy to digest. <hr/> Strength: consistency, weakness: ability to bring motivation to learning <hr/> The instructor intentionally structured the content to reflect what was being covered in CORE classes and it helped with the overall comprehension of the content. No weakness to report, Rohen has a true gift of instruction. <hr/> Rohen's energy to engage with students is incredible. Sometimes I wasn't in the mood for a class, but as soon as he presented the agenda for the day, I knew everything would be worth it.
